migration and asylum

Due to the geopolitical situation in several of the EU's neighbouring countries, the surge of asylum seekers to the EU has increased exponentially over the past few years.

For this reason, asylum and migration have become the most urgent topics of discussion across the EU. The EU details some response strategies to several regulations and directives. However, the concrete implementation of asylum and migration policy lies with the Member States, who must ensure that their national legislation is compliant with both EU law and international agreements.

EU Legislation in Progress

'EU Legislation in Progress' briefings aim to provide Members of the European Parliament with systematic and automatic analysis on all substantial proposals for EU legislation at every stage of the legislative procedure. Each contains an account of the purpose, content and legal aspects of the legislation proposed, in particular analysing what the legislation would change, as well as any previous legislation and the background. An overview of stakeholders' views is also provided, as well as the opinions of national parliaments and the two advisory committees.

We publish all our EU Legislation in Progress briefings on this blog. To facilitate browsing, we divide them according to policy area, grouped in wider clusters.

Read more on EU Legislation in Progress or see all EU Legislation in Progress briefings in chronological order.

Interoperability for a modern public sector

Plenary at a glance by Davies, Ron; European Parliamentary Research Service. 2015. English.

The electronic services of European public administrations need to interoperate to support citizens and businesses studying or working in other Member States, as well as to reduce costs and realise efficiencies for governments. A renewed EU programme for 2016-2020 proposes to continue support for interoperable e-government services, emphasising open data and the re-use of digital solutions. Circular economy package

Four legislative proposals on waste

Overview

Although waste management in the EU has improved considerably in recent decades, over a quarter of municipal waste is still landfilled and less than half is recycled or composted, with wide variations between Member States. Improving waste management could deliver positive effects for the environment, climate, human health and the economy. As part of a shift towards a circular economy, the European Commission made four legislative proposals introducing new waste-management targets regarding reuse, recycling and landfilling, strengthening provisions on waste prevention and extended producer responsibility, and streamlining definitions, reporting obligations and calculation methods for targets.

Proposals for a Directive of the European Parliament and of the Council amending Directive 2008/98/EC on waste amending Directive 1999/31/EC on the landfill of waste amending Directive 94/62/EC on packaging and packaging waste amending Directives 2000/53/EC on end-of-life vehicles, 2006/66/EC on batteries and accumulators and waste batteries and accumulators, and 2012/19/EU ...

Committee responsible:	Environment, Public Health and Food Safety (ENVI)	COM(2015) 593 , COM(2015) 594 , COM(2015) 595 , COM(2015) 596 of 02.12.2015
Rapporteur:	Simona Bonafè (S&D, Italy)	procedure ref: 2015/0272(COD), 2015/0274(COD), 2015/0275(COD), 2015/0276(COD), Ordinary legislative procedure
Next steps expected:	Deadline for amendments: 30 June 2016.
